Missy does a great job leading discussions in many different ways. One that stands out to me as a leader and Manager of BeMobile is how she has the ability to ask a question and follow up with another question. She will let that question lead to other discussions and let the conversations take their own path without interrupting. I enjoy how she can keep everyone in the group involved whether it is a smaller group or a mid sized group. Her ability to ask you a question out of the blue makes sure you are paying attention to the entire dialouge and thus the learning is at its highest potential. As strong John Maxwell follower it is a great prililage to take in all the knowledge Missy has to offer.
